

THE ACCIDENT

By: Jack Murray

Quinn Johnstone

Ahmed Labib

THE ACCIDENT

Published November, 2018

Hoges Productions,

All ideas by the authors as told to Hoges

Deni North Public School,

Deniliquin, NSW

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1: THE ACCIDENT

Page 4

CHAPTER 2: HELPING OUT

Page 7

CHAPTER 3: THE HOSPITAL

Page 10

THE ACCIDENT

Jack was riding his motorbike on the road near the shops. He was speeding.

The police were chasing him. The siren was making Jack go wobbly.

At the same time, Ahmed was driving his ute along the same road. He heard the police siren.

All of a sudden, Jack fell off his expensive motorbike, and Ahmed ran over it.

Jack had a broken arm.

Ahmed crashed into a grocery shop.

All the groceries flew everywhere, and all the shelves got knocked down. The milk lids came off, and the milk squirted everywhere.

Ahmed's ute slipped in the milk, and crashed into a brick wall. The ute exploded into little pieces.

Ahmed squeezed out of his ute, just in time. He had a broken leg.

Ahmed and Jack needed help.

So, police officer, Jeffrey, rang up on his walkie-talkie.

HELPING OUT

"Hello, Quinn!" said police officer, Jeffrey. "We need lots of help. There's been a big crash at the shops, and there's lots of blood."

"I'll be there in my rescue helicopter, in one minute," said Quinn.

One minute later, Quinn was at the accident. He saw lots of blood, and lots of cars stopped on the road. He saw the broken motorbike and the broken ute.

Quinn let out a super-magnet bucket, from his helicopter. It went down, and it pulled up all the broken pieces of metal. He took the metal back to his base.

After that, Quinn came back in his helicopter. He let out a basket.

Then, he landed his helicopter, and helped Ahmed and Jack to get into the basket.

He took off in his helicopter with Jack and Ahmed in the basket. He took them to the hospital.

THE HOSPITAL

The doctors put a bandage on Jack's arm. The doctors put a plaster cast on Ahmed's leg.

A week later, Ahmed and Jack were fine. They left the hospital.

Outside the hospital, there was a new ute and a new motorbike.

Ahmed ran to the ute and hugged it. Then, he drove it home.

Jack ran to the motorbike. It was a different colour, but he loved it.

LEGEND
Enterprises

THE ACCIDENT

By: Jack Murray

Quinn Johnstone

Ahmed Labib