

Fairytales Collection

THE FAIRY QUEEN

Jemma Smith

THE FAIRY QUEEN-published December, 2017

Hoges Productions

Deni North Skool,

Deniliquin, NSW

Orstralya

A lot of people believe that fairies are kind and caring little people with wings of course. But the story you're about to hear is a story that you thought you would never hear. One part of this story comes from a very kind and gentle family, and the other from pure evil. Here is how it goes....

"Sister! Come here! I need to tell you a new plan that I have been scheming up for approximately three days." Mentioned Queen Lola.

'What's it about, my sister?" Asked a very intrigued Zara.

'Oh sister! You know, ever since those three brothers; Greg, Terry and Winky 'accidentally' squashed Pinkie, my unicorn, I have been planning revenge, and I believe I have the perfect plan to capture them, and to lock 'em up in the deepest and darkest cell that we have in this castle!' Exclaimed Queen Lola, laughing evilly.

"Oh sister! What a great plan!" Said Zara.

As the sisters made the schedules to work out who is going and how much food they needed, the three brothers that the fairy's planned on capturing, were sitting around drinking tea. They had no idea what was about to happen.

The Queen's guards and the rotten fairy Queen Lola and her sister, took three whole days and two whole nights to travel to the northern border, where a small town called Sallybridge lies, and within that town lived the three brothers: Terry the troll , Greg the giant and Winky the witch.

Now, you may think that because they are monstrous, they are mean. Well they aren't. They are the kindest, most gentlest creatures you would ever come across, and the town that they lived in was as kind and gentle as they were.

Just before the fairy army came to the town of Sallybrige, everyone in the party stopped and the Queen Lola magically turned her sister into this lovely, pink, fluffy unicorn!

The Queen and all of her guards stayed in the forest where they were hiding, and they let Zara, the 'Queens sister go into the town of Sallybridge, to try and convince the three brothers to come with her and see a 'baby unicorn' that was born yesterday. This was to be their reward for being so kind to everyone. As well as getting a unicorn, they were to also get a lovely, new pair of shoes and a new, fluffy unicorn toy.

Zara (disguised as a unicorn) walked into town and knocked on Terry, Winky and Greg's door. Because these creatures were all so very nice, they didn't question why or how the unicorn got in contact with them. So, the three brothers let Zara, who at that point in time, was disguised as a unicorn, inside their home.

"Hello Terry and Greg! Oh Winky, it is so lovely to see you in person. I have heard so many stories!"

"Hello! Are you Pinky, the Queen's pink, fluffy unicorn?" Asked Greg, who was very confused, because he knew that Terry had accidentally stepped on Pinky.

"No silly, I am not Pinky. She was my cousin's, mum's, brother's, daughter-in-law. I do very much miss her."

"I am so sorry to hear she is no longer with us. I didn't mean to do it.

I was just trying to help her, but then my fingers got in the way and...and...and well... I am so sorry!" Sobbed a very distressed Giant.

"There! There! It's all right. I know it wasn't your fault!....Anyway, I would like to invite you all to come with me to see a baby unicorn that was born yesterday. As you know, unicorns are only born once every 100 years..... This is very rare, and I need to know right now. So YES or NO!" Lied Zara.

"Yes, yes I would love to come and see a baby unicorn!" Screamed Winky.

"So, Terry and Greg; how about you?"

"Sure, why not? It is a once in a lifetime opportunity to see a baby unicorn. Don't they grow up to be like twenty year olds, in three days? Said Terry.

Soon after they were out of Sallybridge, Queen Lola and all her guards jumped out from a tree and put a spell on them. She and the guards took them away to the fairy castle.

As they approached the castle, Winky who I must say was the smartest, asked for a last request.

"Your majesty, can I have a last request, please, because my brothers and I won't have one for a very long time?"

"Fine, what do you want?" Said a very annoyed Queen Lola.

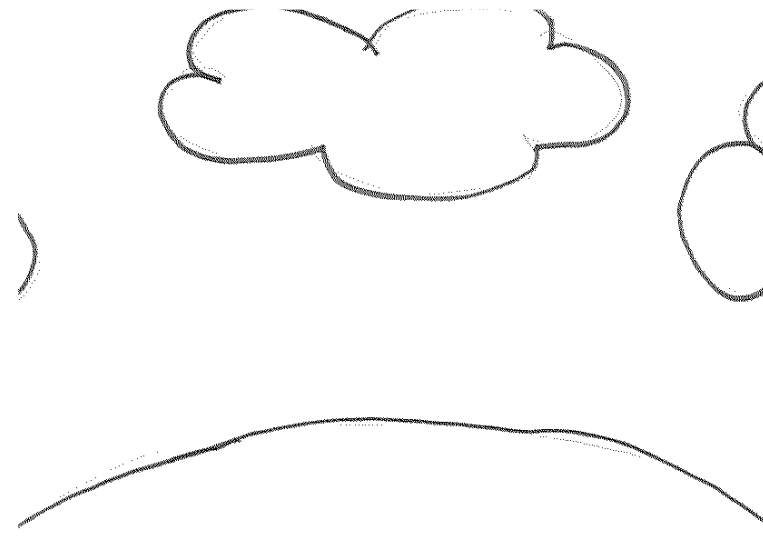

"Well, firstly, where's that unicorn that dragged us here? I want to kill it, like my brother killed Pinky all those days ago."

"Hey!" Yelled Greg. " I am still most upset that I did the killing, so stop rubbing it in." He cried.

"Sorry," apologised Winky.

"Stop!" Yelled Queen Lola. "Now, what is your proper last request Winky?"

"Oh, sorry um.. Oh yeah, my last request is to take my brothers and I to the deepest and darkest dungeon to have a battle tomorrow at noon with fifty fairies and fifty monsters that you have banished from your kingdom, or have locked up in your cells. And!!!- You will have to join in the fight. If you agree to the battle, none of our army will be allowed to come and hurt you....If you do turn up to the battlefield you can lock us up in the deepest and darkest cell that you have. But, if you come late, then we are let off the hook, and all the monsters that you have either banished or locked up in your cell, can roam free again.

"Deal!" Cried Queen Lola.

On the next day, at noon sharp, Queen Lola and her army showed up and so did the monsters. There were giants and trolls, trollops, witches ,wizards, dwarfs, ogres ,goblins and many, many more.

The battle got underway, and in the first three minutes, the fairies had the upper hand with their wands.

Three hours later, the battle had gone on for too long, and so the Queen finally decided to finish the battle and put a dying spell on Terry.

Winky, who was Terry's brother was too smart and outsmarted the Queen. He gave Terry, a mirror and when the spell was about to hit Terry, Terry turned the mirror to face the queen.

ZAP!- She died under her own spell.

All the queen's men and all the queen's horses ran towards the monsters, trying to put the monsters under spells, because they had just killed their queen, but the giants were too strong to be put under a spell, and the trolls were too ugly, and the centaurs were too fast.

A little while later, when all the queen's men had nearly died or run away, the centaurs, trolls, ogres and all the creatures, stayed behind and dug graves for the dead. Greg, Terry and Winky made a coffin and put the queen in it and carried it back to the castle, as they felt really bad for killing her.

It did not take the brothers long to get back to the castle, because Greg the giant took massive steps; Winky the witch flew on his broom; and Terry the troll had a piggy back on Greg.

As they got nearer to the castle, lots of fairies flew up to greet them and congratulate them on killing their queen and all the followers that had admired her.

"Thank you! Thank you! You saved my life I almost got sent to prison for teaching Fairy One Step how to do two steps!" Cried a small fairy.

"That's terrible!" Roared Greg.

"I know. And my husband died from not having enough magic." Shouted the fairy.

The brothers, carrying the dead queen, walked through the thousands and thousands of fairies crowded around the castle, cheering and yelling, "Go the monsters! Whoo!"

One fairy flew up to Greg and asked if they would like something to eat.

"Hello, and who are you?" asked a curious Winky.

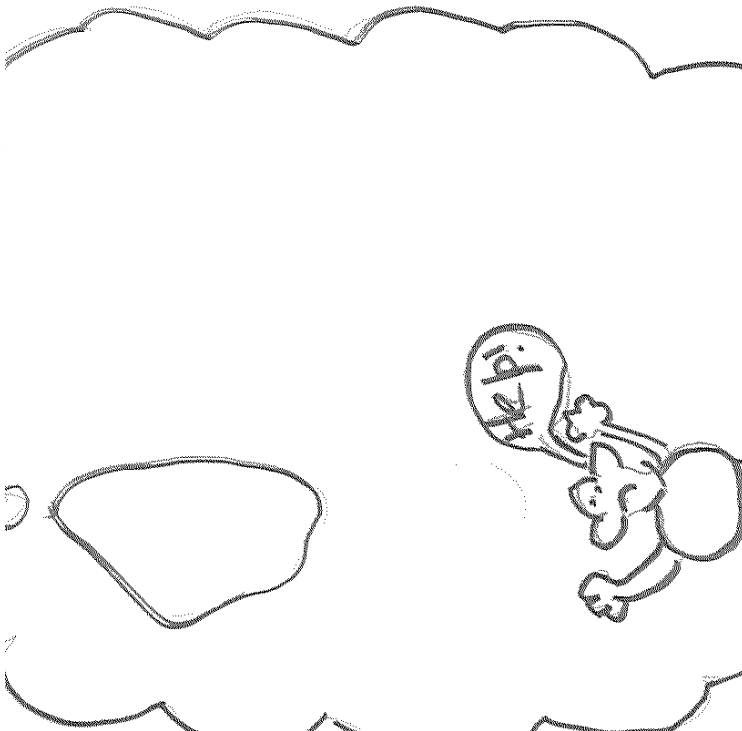

"I am the queen's younger sister!"

"I am so sorry. I didn't mean to kill her, it's just....." Said Terry in a shaky voice.

"It's okay! I never liked her anyway. She made me her jester and servant, and all those horrible things!"

"It's okay! I understand what you are going through!" Said Terry.

"Before you were born, my brothers and I were made to be her servants for her, and it was terrible. I had to kill her ex-boyfriends and pick her toenails. It was terrible and one day I was taking a shoulder ride on Greg, and a magic force kept pulling me back towards the castle. I eventually fell on the ground and cracked my head open. I started bleeding, blue blood. But she didn't care that I had cracked my head open, and the force of that evil queen's magic pulled me right back to the castle, with a line of blue blood trailing behind me. When I got to the castle she told me that I had to move her shoes, because they were too stinky, and they stunk out her shoe wardrobe. SHE DIDN'T EVEN CARE THAT I WAS BLEEDING AND ABOUT TO FAINT!" Sobbed Terry with a hint of anger in his voice.

"There! There! It's alright, no need to get upset. she's gone now; she can't harm you." Calmed the queen's sister, Jackie. "Lets go and discuss this over a cup of tea. We can discuss your bravery and how we will thank you for this incident.....Oh! Actually, I have a way better idea; we can have a gathering and I will invite the whole of the fairy kingdom, and you can invite the whole of Sallybridge. As the only air to the throne I will take over and knight you for your bravery!"

Cried she soon to become Queen of the Fairy kingdom.

"Now that I am queen, everything will be cheaper, because my sister always spent all the kingdom's taxes on shoes and makeup, and all that stuff, you know!"

"That's a great idea, we will bring everyone and anyone we can think of. We will tell everyone from the neighbouring towns and villages." Calmly said Greg, who was very excited to become knighted.

Winky, who was the smartest, said, "Jackie! I am sorry, but I need to interrupt. Because we are having giants and trolls and ogres and witches coming tonight, you will need to quadruple the food supply.

"Yes! I can do that, I will quadruple it, then double it again." Replied her royal highness, the new queen of the fairies and monsters.

Some three hours later, all the monsters returned to the fairy kingdom, and the ceremony finally got underway. Up first, Jackie was to knight the brave threesome, and reward all the monsters and other creatures that helped to kill the queen.

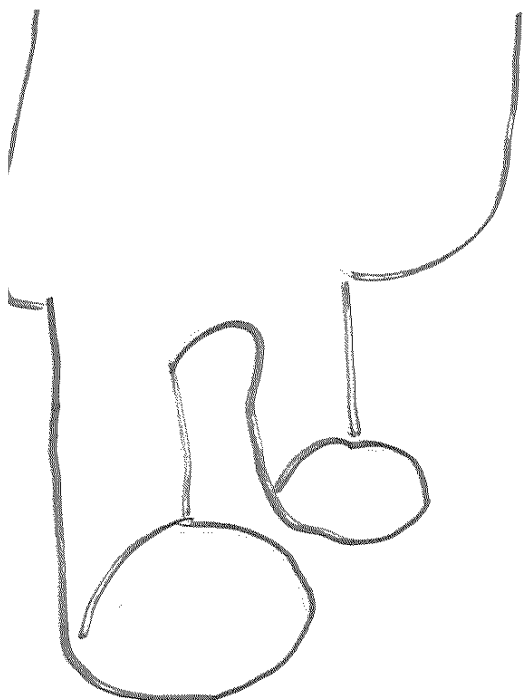

Soon after the fairy prime minister finally announced Jackie to be the queen of all fairies and monsters, and the speeches were finished, she got the three brothers up on stage to knight them.

"I knight these brave brothers for killing her ex-royal highness Queen Lola." She began. "Terry and his brothers, as well as all the other monsters who helped with the killing of the queen, please come forward!" Announced Jackie in her most calm and cool voice.

"Whoo!" Shouted everyone at their new Queen and all the brave heroes that helped destroy Lola and her followers.

A couple of day's later, the whole fairy kingdom was still dancing and singing, but Greg, Terry and Winky started off home, because they hadn't been home since the ceremony. Fairy one step approached them and asked a question, "Hello ,your royal highnesses, I would like to know if you could ask Queen Jackie if I could be taught to make two steps instead of one step?"

"I'll see what I can do, but don't get your hopes up, and please don't call any of me or my brothers your royal highness. It sounds pretty weird." Said Greg.

"But, your royal highness... um, sorry, sir!" shouted Fairy One Step who had to yell because Greg couldn't hear. "It says in the fairy or monster law book that if most fairies agree that they don't like their queen, and someone or something kills her, they will be known from then on, as a prince or princess of the fairy kingdom. That's what it says, and you can't argue with the law."

" I know but it feels a bit uncomfortable, so please just call me Greg,"

"Okay, I won't call you your royal highness, but can you answer my question please? Can you, or can't you, ask Queen Jackie, if she will allow me to do two steps instead of one?"

"Mmm... I'll see what I can do."

So instead of going home, the boy's turned around and walked towards the fairy kingdom once again, and this time, Fairy One Step followed.

Hours later.

"What can I do for you?" asked Queen Jackie, confused by why they had come back.

Greg replied, "I found this young fairy, and he wants me to ask if you would allow him to be taught to do two steps."

"I see, but if Fairy One Step has two steps, he won't be Fairy

One Step anymore. He will be Fairy Two Steps, and he won't have the same purpose anymore. So, my answer is no. He will not be given two steps.!"

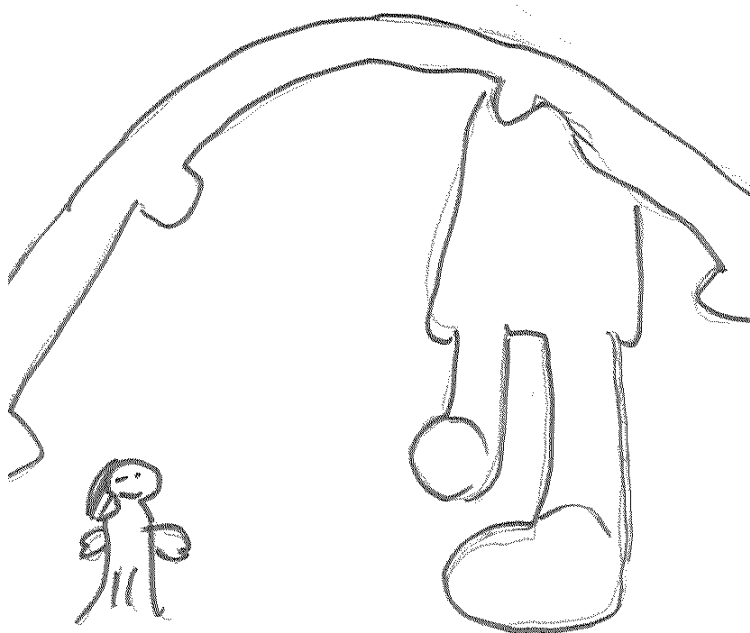

A couple of days after their first encounter, Fairy One Step and Greg became the best of friends and told each other everything.

On a particular day, the pair felt like a couple of kids and played truth or dare. Greg asked Fairy One Step, and he said truth.

Greg asked the question, "who do you like the best out of the whole fairy kingdom? -You have to be honest."

"Umm, that's tough, but I think I would have to choose Queen Jackie."

"I thought you would say that. I see how you look at her. Maybe, that is your purpose in this world. To become King of the fairy kingdom and marry Queen Jackie."

Yelled out an excited Greg.

A few day's later Greg finally worked out a way to ask Jackie if she liked Fairy One Step. So, one Sunday, Greg went to the castle and asked to see the queen. He saw the queen and asked her for her truthful answer to the question.

Jackie's answer was, yes!

Greg was dismissed, and after he left the castle and the kingdom, he ran all the way to Fairy One Step's place and told him the exciting news.

Later in the week, the excited fairy went over to the castle and asked the queen for a date. She unexpectedly said, yes; and on December the 24th, Fairy One Step and Queen Jackie went on a date.

In under 3 years, the pair were married and of course, they lived happily ever after; or so, that's what you might think. But, no! That's not what happened.

One afternoon, when King Fairy One Step was out riding his horse he was eaten by a dragon, which spat him out and left him to die. And then, a snake came and bit into his neck, poisoning him. It left him to die, even more.

So, King Fairy One Step never returned to his beloved queen, and he was found a week later; DEAD!

By Jemma Smith

LEGEND
Enterprises

